Skyler is doing great! He is such a smart puppy. He now weighs about 37 pounds. He experienced snow for the first time a couple weeks ago and that was just hilarious.

Skyler got weighed last night and finally reached 30 lbs! He must be about 6 1/2 months old by now. He is a great addition to the family and only mildly harrasses the cats :) He is so smart and has learned so many tricks already. We went to the beach in Michigan this summer, and he experienced the water for the first time. He also loves to dig in the sand. Here are some picture of him and his new big brother, Buddy (who tolerates the little guy pretty well).

He's doing great and is so smart. He's tiny though, only 27 lbs at 6 months old .

I just wanted to give you an update on Charlie. He is doing really good and is so smart! He has already learned how to sit (with the influence of some treats) and chases the ball, although he doesn't understand the concept of bringing it back. He is very good in his crate during the day and sleeps the whole night through. He has not peed in the house yet, and is doing pretty good with the potty training.
