Kahlua is doing just fine. She got spoiled rotten for Christmas.

Kahlua has adjusted well. She has already spent a couple of nights in our bed (didn't think that would take long). She has really settled down but still needs a little more training, which we are planning on starting within the next week or so. She loves to run around in the backyard & I'll tell you what...she's quick!!! Her & Lexi are getting along pretty good. Lexi definitely tells her when she has overstepped her boundaries. We took her to the vet on Saturday & she weighs 64 1/2 pounds so, little by little she's gaining! ...All in all, we are doing very well!!!
