Well we are back from vacation and Rex was an absolute delight. He loved the water after Molly showed him what waves were all about. They played constantly... Again thanks for Rex, he is already a great dog.

Rhett's new name is now Rex, named after dad's favorite Shepherd when he was a boy. Rex is the hit of the neighborhood and everyone has to take a second look to tell him and Molly apart. He has been the perfect gentleman, but seems to like garbage cans on our walks.

...[Rex] and Molly are trying to figure out who is the boss. She doesn't want to give up the alpha position but it won't be long before the "big guy" takes over. She tries to boss him and he just ignores her and pushes on past her. On our walks he is all business--just straight ahead whereas Molly is all over the place. ...Needless to say they are signed up for obedience training with Rex being the easier one to train, I think, from his personality.
